

INSIGHTFUL ELECTION NIGHT REPORTING SOLUTION

Election Night Reporting

Timely results made available for everyone to see

The Election Night Reporting (ENR) module of our Election Management Platform securely handles the aggregated results, and publishes information in a web user-friendly, and device-independent format, which is available to everyone.

User-centered
Designed

Accurate

Auditable

The reception of election results from a variety of locations and different sources is facilitated with this system; either from consolidated results transmitted from voting machines, or mobile apps that collect and transmit.

How does it work

The ENR system is physically separated from the Results Management system. Keeping the ENR module independent enhances the security of the results database.

ENR is usually installed in an elastic environment to guarantee high availability.

- Information is more than data; the ENR integrates all the regular reporting functionalities with user-friendly graphs to provide the viewer with useful insights in real time.
- Social media integration; to provide truthful information to the public and mitigate the negative effect of fake news on social media, ENR allows website users to easily share the official ENR information over their preferred social media.
